Antioch Grade School Cost to educate students rates county's lowest

by GLORIA DAVIS

"Our school district is run pretty economically," said Antioch Grade School Supt. Don Skidmore in referring to cost per pupil data released by the office of William Thompson, Lake County regional school superintendent.

Skidmore was quoting the $567 figure listed as the increase in the cost of education per pupil in District 34 in the past five years.

It is the lowest figure on the table that lists all the Lake County school districts.

Emmons School's cost per pupil has increased $1,081, but Grass Lakes', at $651, is the fifth lowest increase out of 51 Lake County grade and high school districts.

The cost per student at Antioch High School, Dist. 117, of $1,401, ranks somewhere in the middle of the list of all the county school districts.

Teachers' salaries and utility costs are the two largest budget items on which the amortization of these figures is based.

Ken Wierschem, business manager of Antioch High School, gave a guess that, all things staying the same, the total cost per high school pupil might escalate seven or eight percent for the 1983-84 school year.

He added that one of the main variable factors that the cost depended upon was the weather. Last year the mild weather kept the utility costs lower than a severe winter would this year.

Meyer's stabbing

Expect May trial for accused teen killers

The accused murderers of former Antioch resident, Mark Meyer, 25, Kenneth Palmer, 18, and Quintin Stacy Allen, 19, are still being held in the Polk County jail in Florida without bond.

According to investigators from the Polk County Sheriff's Dept. since trial must take place within 180 days after a person is charged, it is expected that the trial date for the two will be sometime in May.

Assistant State's Atty. Harvey Pickard is scheduled to prosecute the case.

Palmer and Allen are charged with robbery, burglary, kidnapping and first degree murder in connection with Meyer's death on Nov. 6.

Meyer, son of former Antioch Grade School Supt. Henry Meyer, was allegedly kidnapped by the two at a McDonald's Restaurant in Winter Haven, Fla. on Nov. 6.

Palmer and Allen then allegedly took him for a ride to a pasture in Lake Wales, Fla., where they robbed him and then beat and stabbed him.

Meyer's body was found tied to a tree in the pasture on Nov. 10.

Palmer and Allen reportedly went to the Henry Meyer's home after the murder, burglarized it, and then went to a local restaurant for breakfast.

Report third car causes Antioch man to crash

An Antioch man, Bruce Stamm, 28, was taken to Condell Memorial Hospital, Libertyville, after he was injured in a two-car accident at 4:15 p.m., Wednesday, Jan. 4.

According to the Lake County Sheriff's Dept., Stamm said that he was northbound on Rte. 45 when a small white car shot out of Casey Rd. directly in front of him. Stamm said he hit the brakes but was unable to stop.

His car slid into the southbound lane where a vehicle driven by Arthur Wollpert, 42, Elk Grove Village, struck the Stamm auto.

Wollpert was also taken to Condell Hospital with injuries. He also said he thought another car had pulled out in front of Stamm's.

Neither injured driver received a citation.

Flanningams do things in the 'family' way

by GLORIA DAVIS

Depending on the way you look at it, the special way that Terry and Carol Flanningam of Antioch celebrated the holidays this year might be considered either very old fashioned or "spanking" new.

Carol had her fifth baby, Noel (rhymes with dole), the day after Christmas, in the Flanningam home in accordance with the natural childbirth plan she swears by, with the aid of a midwife.

Carol, who had her first two children the "regular" way in a hospital, had her third child in a birthing room at Highland Park Hospital and the fourth at home under the guidance of Family Practices Unlimited out of Lincolnshire.

She was also under the care of Family Practices when the latest family addition was welcomed into the Flanningam household during the holiday season.

When Noel was born, Dr. Eisenstein, head of the clinic, was in the room as required legally and in case of unforeseen complications, but Carol and the midwife did all the work.

Carol, who is 35, is really enthusiastic like many newer generation mothers that feel, as far as childbirth is concerned, the old way is still the best.

"Not only have I found the last three births easier, but I'm up and around afterwards much faster," she says.

After the first two it was two weeks before I could walk and sit comfortably, now I'm back doing dishes and taking care of the children within a few days and feeling great," she added.

Carol credits the preconditioning and the care she received from Family Practices for the easy births.

Her due date was a week before Christmas and at that time she started with labor pains that proved to be false ones. Dr. George Elvove from the clinic stayed at the Flanningam house overnight with her until it was realized that Noel wasn't ready to come to Antioch just yet.

Carol derides modern hospital birthing practices that include drugs and the strapping-down of the mother.

"They don't do anything but let you have your baby," she said referring to the natural Family Practices' way.

Although her postnatal condition was great, she did admit that the proud papa, who is a general contractor, did stick around the house for 10 days after Noel's birth in case he was needed.

According to Carol, another good part of having a baby at home is that the cost, amounting to $1,500, is somewhat less than hospital maternity charges.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

The holiday season brought less than the usual share of drunk drivers in the Antioch area said Antioch Police Chief Charles Miller as he reported that Christmas weekend saw no DUI's and New Year's less than a normal weekend. Old Annie Mae's glad to see that our locals showed some horse sense this year!

Speaking of drunk driving, hearings are starting in Wisconsin this week with testimony expected both from law enforcement agencies that are for the passing of the bill that will keep Illinois teens who cannot legally drink in their own state at home and from tavern owners on the other side.

Reports are that Army Pvt. Robert Rentner, son of Ken and Nancy Rentner, Antioch, has completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C.

It was nice seeing Shirley Standish who was back in town visiting her daughter over the holidays.

The Antioch residents that are on the ski patrol over at Wilmot Mt., have been kept really busy the last few weekends by the largest ski crowds in years.

More military news, Airman Gerhard Ochs, son of Herman and Katharina Ochs, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base in Mississippi after completing his basic training.

New food marts increase collection

Antioch's share of retail sales tax collected increased by nearly $68,000 last year over the same period in 1982.

The figures show that $370,138 was collected from February through August 1983, compared to $302,194 collected in the same period in 1982.

The increase could be attributed to many things, but the major reasons could be the general economy was up

Luta takes over as postmaster

Stanley A. Luta, who joined the postal service as a city delivery carrier at the Des Plaines office in 1963, was sworn in as postmaster of Antioch on Jan. 6. Luta has been the superintendent of support services at the Des Plaines office prior to this appointment.

The appointment was announced by Frank J. Santoro, sectional center manager at the North Suburban Facility, River Grove.

Installation ceremonies were at 3 p.m. at the Antioch Office with employees, postal managers and family members in attendance. Frank J. Santoro administered the oath of office.

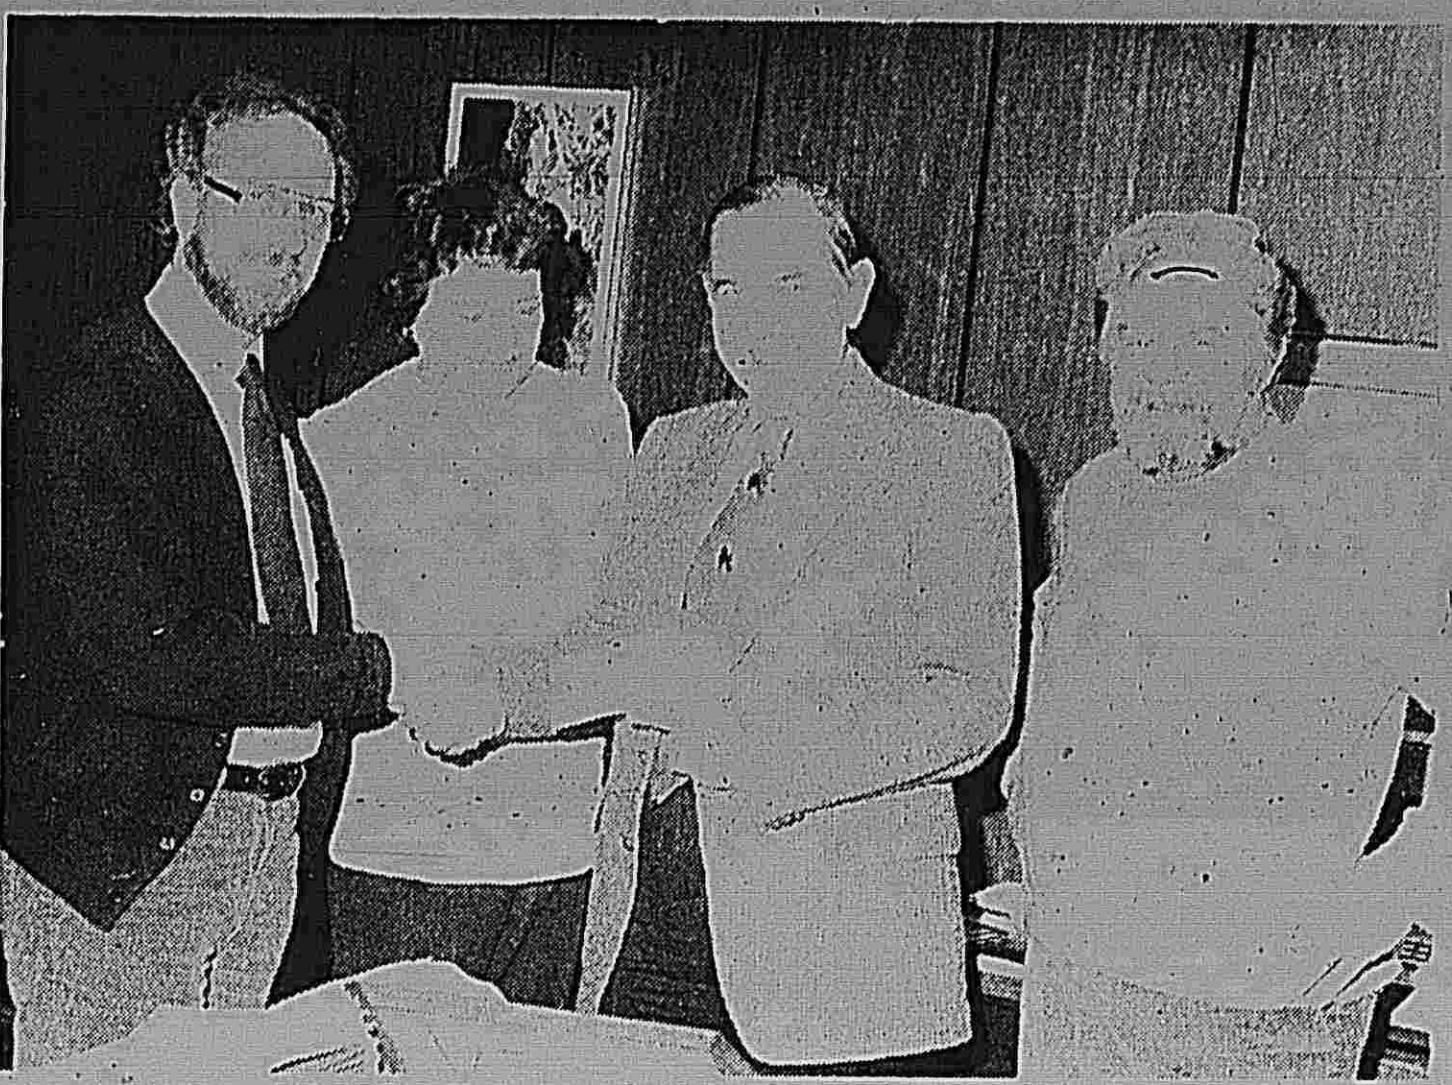

Luta succeeds Mary Ann DeRemer, former postmaster, who relocated to the eastern region in July of 1983. In the interim, Roland (John) Miller headed the Antioch office as officer-in-charge from July 9. Miller will return to the Zion office as the superintendent of postal operations.

Luta takes over an office with 24 employees and serves a population of approximately 15,100.

He has attended various postal education classes, attended Quigley Prep Seminary, the Loyola University and Wright Junior College. His main field of study is business administration.

Luta has served in several postal positions and brings extensive experience to this new position. Previously, he has served as officer-in-charge at the Bartlett and Highland Park offices, has acted as manager of customer services and as manager of mail processing at the Des Plaines office, and has been detailed to the Postal Service Training & Development Institute in Bethesda, Md. as an employee development specialist.

He presently resides in Des Plaines, and is a member of the Elks Club; an Affiliate of the Oakton Community College; and has held and holds various positions in the Kiwanis Club, the United Way and the historical society, all in the community of Des Plaines. Postmasters are selected on merit and appointed by William F. Bolger, the postmaster general.

'Perfect Setup' is setup with some perfect casting

by GLORIA DAVIS

The title of the comedy now appearing at Andre's Dinner Theater in Richmond, "Perfect Setup," is an apt description of the dinner that Andre's serves and the acting done by the cast of the play.

Although "Setup" is just a notch above that never ending list of fluffy small cast sex comedies that seem to be a permanent fixture on the menus of most dinner theaters, the three people in Andre's cast make the theatrical evening a worthwhile one.

When I think about it

Party girl resigns, that's temporarily

by GLORIA DAVIS

Well, the two long holiday weekends are over! I've come to the conclusion that there should be a law against three-day weekends, especially during the Christmas Holidays and more specifically two in a row.

Sure it was wonderful getting together with family and friends over good food and liquid libation—but the result, at least in my case, was a gigantic case of overexposure!

Tops on the list of excesses was the overdoing of underdoing, explicitly not keeping a workday schedule. I got so used to not rolling out of bed during the dark, cold early morning hours, my husband literally used a crowbar to implement Tuesday morning's exodus.

To the neighbors who called the police because this man was cracking a whip and yelling mule train behind some woman who was dragging her body towards a car that morning, he is really not a wife-beater, just doing as she requested.

Just a note about those extra lumps on my hips that look suspiciously like Christmas cookies and the permanent case of cheese and crackers glut that I contacted at the end of 1983. For the first time my eyes were not bigger than my stomach.

Nothing is bigger than that humungus constantly rumbling post-holiday cavity, making it all that more difficult to stick to my usual New Year's diet.

I do have to feel sorry for the poor dear though. How would you like to go from six days of hourly feedings of turkey and goodies to a three-times a day shot of grapefruit juice?

And correct me if I'm wrong, but weren't there more football games on tv than usual this New Year's weekend or has my husband's physique always been the shape of a lounge chair?

Did you have the feeling that there was a "getting together" marathon running over the holidays? I went to one brunch that started at 10 in the morning and circled the clock until 10 that evening.

I've decided that my friends and I could give the Romans a cue on bacchanality, but it was fun!

Also, I don't ever again want to spend two weekends in a row listening to the tales of horror that slip from the mouths of my babes as they laugh over the things they got away with during their growing years.

Well at least I found out why my diningroom carpet has smelled like salad dressing for years. Food fights at birthday parties of "young adults" will have that effect everytime.

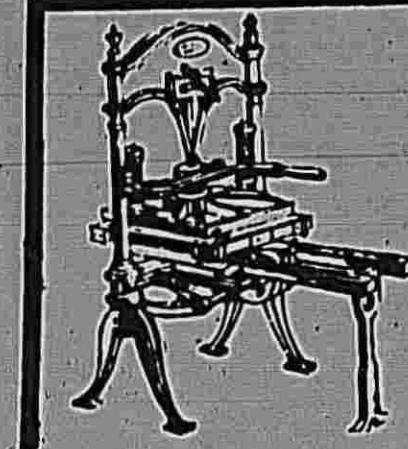

Lesson learned, don't ever try a be Mr. Nice Guy but not ruining your "grown-up" childrens' parties with your dampening presence.

After many a holiday slip I think I would rain on a lot of parades if I had it all to do over again, not because any of their shenanigans were that bad, but just to get the satisfaction of depriving them of fooling Mother Nature.

This year, the six days of partying has dispelled one of my favorite myths, that I could easily fit into the jet set's carefree way of life.

I guess I'll force myself to do without the so sincere kisses of once-a-year party friends and distant aunts, stop smiling and head for the blessed solitude of the couch in my den and fall asleep over a glass of diet pop during "Dynasty" for awhile until I catch people pox again which should be around St. Pat's Day, thank goodness!

Of course if my usual aversion to my own company attacks sooner, I might find a reason to have "a few people" in to celebrate getting my W2 forms in the mail.

The Time Machine

FIFTY YEARS AGO: Jan. 11, 1934

The Antioch News, owned by H. B. Gaston was closed for three days when A. B. Johnson, holder of a $3,200 mortgage on some of the newspaper's equipment, foreclosed on the paper, ejecting the owner and his employees in an effort to "steal" the paper.

The paper was printed when Gaston got back into the plant paying the note off in full the next day.

Reorganization of the business took place with Mrs. Nasan Tiffany Sibley new part owner of the paper.

Mayor George Bartlett was the chief speaker at the Antioch Men's Club meeting, speaking on village finances.

Antioch dairy owners were the last holdouts on a countywide milk strike.

Accounts in the State Bank of Antioch and the First National Bank of Antioch were federally insured for the first time.

Friends held a surprise party for Mrs. S. M. Wallance.

Mabel Simonsen and Ruth Cunningham were leaders of the Bluebirds Girl Scout Patrol.

THIRTY YEARS AGO: Jan. 14, 1954

W. J. Murphy of Antioch announced his candidacy for the office of state representative for the eighth senatorial district of Boone, McHenry and Lake counties.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Baethke purchased Harvey Miller's grocery store on Main St..

The educational tax for Grass Lake School electors was approved at a raise from 40 to 61 cents.

Zion Atty. Adeline Geo-Karis was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Antioch Unit 748 American Legion Auxiliary.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Spiering took off on a trip to India.

A fire at the home of Hewig Block in Loon Lake did $500 worth of damage.

TEN YEARS AGO: Jan. 16, 1974

The entire Smart's Country House Restaurant was taken over by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce Dinner Dance.

Mayor Bob Wilton and daughter Patti spent New Year's at the Rose Bowl in sunny California.

Jenny Franchik, chairman of arts and crafts for the Welcome Wagon, gave a demonstration on making fabric flowers at the club meeting.

Stuart Good sang at the wedding of Bill Dow and Ruby Mohr.

Mark Andrews, Vic McGuire and Mike Gutowski were the Sequoia varsity cage stars.

Robert Harris

Robert Harris, 70, of Kenosha, died Dec. 28 at St. Catherine's Hospital in Kenosha.

He was born April 13, 1913 in Charleston, S.C. and had lived in Lake County for many years before moving to Kenosha in 1976. Mr. Harris was a member of the Bible Baptist Church in Kenosha and had been a farmer in Lake County for many years before his retirement.

He is survived by his wife, Betty; one son, Frank (Pamalin) Harris of Zion; two daughters, Gladys Gustafson of Wadsworth and Patricia (Harry) Smith of Antioch; one stepson, Peter Perez of Kenosha; two stepdaughters, Anita and Elizabeth Perez, both of Kenosha; nine grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Dec. 31 at the Strang Funeral Home in Antioch with the Rev. Dana Kerstein of the Bible Baptist Church of Kenosha officiating. Interment was in Wauconda Cemetery, Wauconda.

Kurt A. Barlow

Kurt A. Barlow, 19, of Wildwood, died Jan. 2.

He was born in Waukegan Oct. 1, 1964 and had resided in Antioch before making his home in Wildwood for the past eight years. He was a member of the United Methodist Church of Antioch. He graduated from Woodland Junior High School Class of 1978, and also from Warren Township High School Class of 1982. He was a stock clerk, employed with Crate and Barrel, Hawthorne Shopping Plaza, Vernon Hills.

He is survived by his mother, Virginia (Metzler) Barlow of Wildwood; his father, Townsend Barlow of Grayslake; three sisters, Krista L. Barlow of Lynchburg, Va., Kim E. Barlow of Chicago and Kathy L. (John) Fontana of Mundelein; one brother, Kent B. (Denise) Barlow of Lake Bluff; his maternal grandmother, Helen Metzler of Champaign; numerous aunts, uncles, cousins and one niece.

Funeral services were held Jan. 6 at the Strang Funeral Home in Grayslake with the Rev. Stephen Williams, pastor of United Methodist Church, Antioch, officiating. Interment was in Highland Memorial Park Cemetery. Donations may be made to the Kurt A. Barlow Scholarship Fund at Warren Township High School, Gurnee.

Stanley J. Jozapaitis

Stanley J. Jozapaitis, 67, of Bristol, died Dec. 30 at Kenosha Memorial Hospital.

He was born March 7, 1916 in Waukegan and had lived in Bristol since 1944. He was a member St. Scholastica Church in Bristol and the Holy Name Society of the church, 25-year member of the Bristol Volunteer Fire Dept. and was a member of the Steel Workers Union Local 1030 in Kenosha. He had been employed at the Arneson Foundry in Kenosha for 26 years before his retirement in 1977. On Feb. 6, 1943 he married Adelaide Schlitz in St. John's Church in Paris, Wis.

Survivors include his wife, Adelaide; two daughters, JoAnn and Susan Jozapaitis of Bristol; and one sister, Anna (Henry) DeYoung of Brighton, Wis.

Funeral services with Mass of Christian Burial were held Jan. 3 at St. Scholastica Church in Bristol. Interment was in the parish cemetery.

Restrain children

The Illinois State Police reminds parents or legal guardians residing in Illinois who transport their children under six years of age in a motor vehicle while unrestrained will be subject to an arrest beginning Jan. 1.

The State Police implemented a six-month (July 1 - Dec. 31) educational program, whereby motorists who were found in violation of the Child Passenger Protection Act were issued a written warning for the first offense and informed about the new law.

Superintendent Laimutis Nargelenas said that during the first six months of this new law, troopers issued 1907 written warnings and 10 citations. "Troopers will be enforcing a law that our children can live with," he added, "so show a little restraint and buckle up your child."

School costs

"A mild winter could save us $20,000 or a bad one could cost as much," he gave as an example.

Utility costs were the big variable according to Supt. Richard Hogan of Grass Lake School. Otherwise he expected the district's cost in educating each pupil to remain the same as last year.

He added that the district did not expect greater than a five percent tax extension since the district did none of the legal notifications necessary if the extension should exceed that figure.

The cost per pupil to Emmons Grade School's electors should be up about five percent in '84 was the estimation of Supt. John Kakacek.

Although the district has fulfilled the legal requirements for a tax extension raise over five percent, Kakacek said he only expected a four percent raise in that area.

Emmons is without the prosperity of big business income, being basically a bedroom community.

"About 80 percent of our expenses are paid through property taxes," said Kakacek.

He also said that utilities were a big factor next to the eight percent raise Emmons teachers received for this year.

Kakacek said that Emmons' utility bills had risen steadily since 1976, doubling by 1983.

He based much of the raise expectation on the teachers' salary raise and the additions to their staff.

Skidmore was in the same ballpark as he "guessed" an expected increase of approximately eight and one-half percent for each student over last year's cost for District 34.

Contributing to this is the addition of businesses like the Jewel-Osco complex, Struggles Restaurant etc., plus senior housing and residential housing addendums.

A chance to find out if your home is in good health for energy conservation.

These days, you can't afford a house that wastes energy.

That's why you should take advantage of this unusual opportunity to have your home examined by an energy expert for only $15, with an Energy Audit sponsored by NI-Gas and seven other utilities through the non-profit Illinois Energy Audits Association (IEAA).

A diagnosis and a prescription.

All for only $15.

EFFECTIVE ANNUAL YIELD

Great American investment certificates pay higher interest on deposits of $1000 or more. You can better your interest rate with larger deposits, longer terms—or both. You can even invent your own maturity date. So your money is never tied up longer than you'd like.

Higher interest on investment certificates is only the beginning. Great American Federal Savings offers a complete portfolio of investments including short term six-month certificates and an IRA that saves toward a wealthier retirement and takes the bite out of tax time. Great American Insured Money Market Investment Accounts yield higher interest plus complete access to your money—in person, by check or at your local Jewel Food Store.

Great American Federal has all the banking you'll ever need. Visit your neighborhood office today. That's all it takes to join the ranks of Great Americans.

Fenton win makes it 5-7 as Sequoits get ready for Zion

The Antioch High School varsity cagers chalked up another win against Fenton on Friday, Jan. 6, although they evidently still hadn't recovered from post tournament letdown.

The Sequoits did the job but both teams looked a little sloppy on the court, as evidenced by Antioch's 18 fowls and Fenton's 22.

Dan Berkeli was top scorer with 20, followed by John Humphreys with 12, and Don Korjenek was close behind with 11.

Antioch had a good night on the boards, outrebounding Fenton 40-35, Korjenek and Tom McLellan accounting for 10 apiece, and Berkeli nine.

According to Sequoit Coach Don Zeman, his boys never really got going offensively to his satisfaction. The Bisons outscored the Sequoits by four from the field.

"We were lucky that Fenton outfowled us," said Zeman.

The Sequoits' record is now 5-7 overall and 2-3 in the North Suburban Conference, as they get ready for Zion-Benton at Zion, on Friday, Jan. 13.

Zeman said that the Sequoits would have to concentrate on the front line scoring in order to beat Zion on Friday.

"We'll have to play better than we did last week if we're going to beat Worthington, Ruckebiel and that new sophomore," said Zeman concerning the upcoming confrontation with Zion.

Bobby Worthington, six foot seven inch Zion center, is being sought after by many colleges and Scott Ruckebiel, six foot, three inch forward, as well as sophomore guard Dane Alexander, are expected to give the Sequoits a run for their money this week.

Children's programs to begin

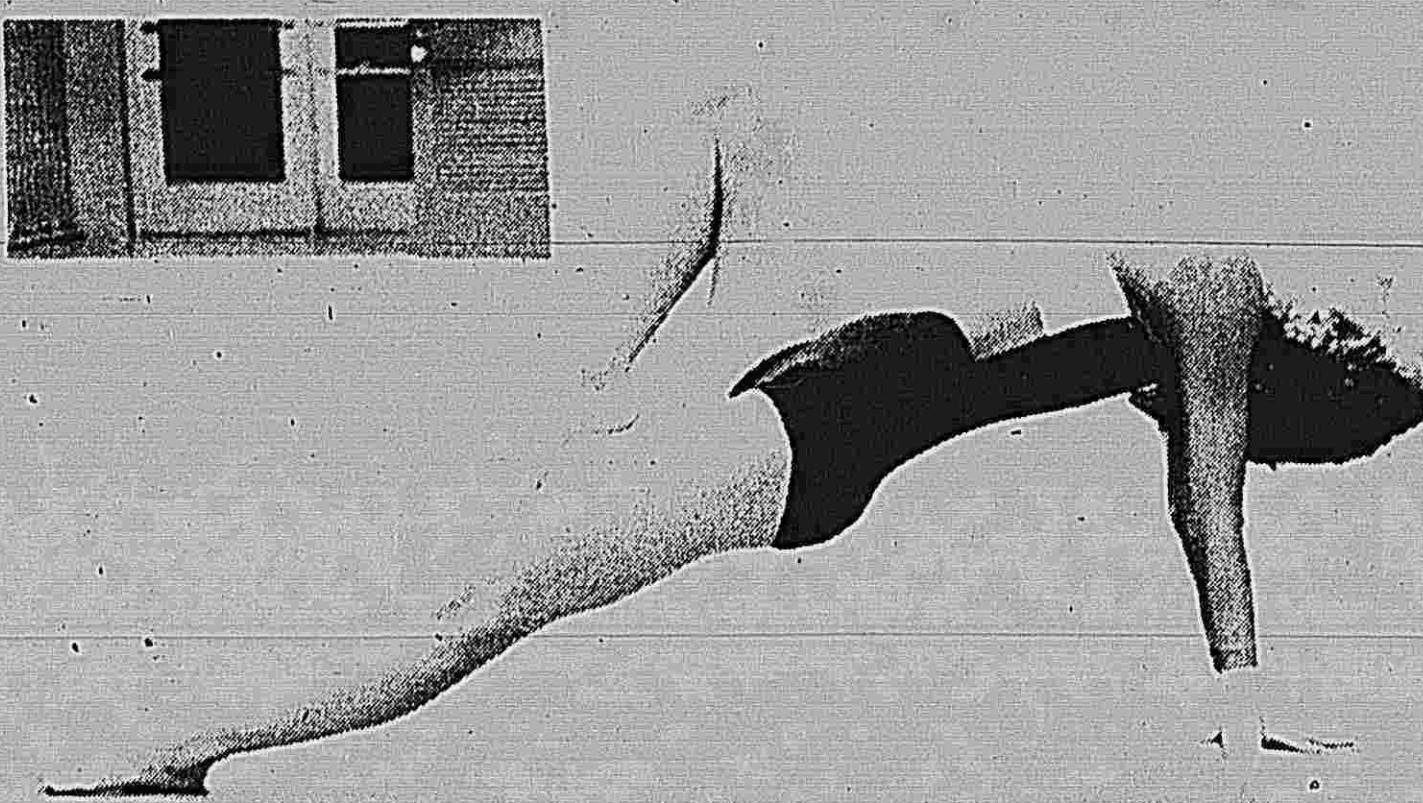

After a very successful Fall Children's program, the Antioch Township Library will begin its new Winter-Spring program in February. Please call the library for any further information regarding the time and days programs are held. There are programs for children ages 3 through the eighth grade.

Registration will be from Jan. 16 through 28.

Setup

himself during Andre's summer Neil Simon luncheon theater series, does an excellent job portraying the middle age swinger who "loves his wife but Oh you kid!"

He and Yvonne Alton, a familiar face in the local theatrical circuit, playing a rather type cast role, really come into their own in the second half of the play as they put aside the cutesy laugh lines and verbally fight to save their marriage.

Their delivery in the third act scene that takes place in their bedroom features some of the best acting to be seen in this area in quite a while.

Ditto the performance of Virginia

Zymonas, the other woman. Her farewell to Ferraro draws rave notices even from this female reviewer despite the fact that she is the physical type that makes her the natural enemy of most other members of her sex.

Her blond beauty, with long lovely legs that start under her chin, showcased by a sexy black teddy, will please all the males in the audience and probably ruin the dinner of most of the ladies.

I've had many a pleasant meal at Andre's and don't make a practice of reviewing the dinner, but last Friday's was an outstanding one, so I'll give the dinner four stars.

For good dining and a pleasant theatrical experience, "Perfect Setup" will still be at Andre's over the next two weekends.

PM&L chooses cast for 'The Rainmaker'

"The Rainmaker," by N. Richard Nash, will be presented by the PM&L Theatre of Antioch beginning Friday evening, Feb. 3, and running for three weekends.

The talented cast of this venerable American classic now in rehearsal is as follows: Christina Lindberg of Antioch as Lizzie; Lou Jones of Round Lake as Starbuck; Frank Greenwood of Round Lake as H.C. Curry; Dennis Gullion of Lindenhurst as Noah; Bobby Mullowney of Fox Lake as Jim; Phil Jaeger of Zion as File; and Tom Cody of Libertyville as the Sheriff.

Larry Bullman of Ingleside will be directing the production and Dorie Hubbaro of Antioch is the stage manager.

Play dates for "The Rainmaker" are Feb. 3, 4, 10, 11, 12, 17 and 18. All performances begin at 8:30 p.m. except for a Sunday matinee on Feb. 12 which begins at 2:30 p.m.

For tickets reservations and information, call (312) 395-3055. The PM&L Theatre is at 877 Main St. in downtown Antioch.

Legislation after changes in drunk driving penalties

A drunk driving incident in Kenosha has spurred legislative action by State Rep. Joseph Andrea (D-Kenosha). Citing the case of a three time convicted drunk driver from California who was arrested on the same charge here, Andrea announced that he has introduced a bill to close a loophole in the current drunk driving law.

According to Andrea, officials were able to charge the driver with only a first offense because the driver's previous conviction occurred outside of Wisconsin. Instead of a mandatory jail term and loss of license, the driver received only a fine and is already back on the road.

Shortly after the incident, Andrea was contacted by Assistant City Attorney Robert Jambois who asked for changes in the law. His proposal was to allow prior convictions in other states to be considered in sentencing drunk drivers.

"He was upset that the prosecutor's hands were tied," said Andrea. "Because they could only charge the driver with a first offense, they were forced to allow a potential killer to get behind the wheel again."

In response to Jambois' request, Andrea introduced a bill, Assembly Bill 843, that would close the current loophole. That proposal is now before the assembly judiciary committee and may receive legislative action sometime this month.

Jambois state, "The new law requires a prosecutor to charge the offender with a second or third offense based upon prior OWI (Operating While Intoxicated) convictions in other states."

Andrea noted that his proposal has the enthusiastic support of Kenosha County District Attorney Robert Zapf, The Wisconsin Dept. of Transportation and State Sen. Lynn Adelman, the author of Wisconsin's tough new drunk driving law.

Andrea cautioned, however, that his proposal is not a cure-all for the drunk driving problem. He argued that a comprehensive approach is necessary and should include the components of raising the drinking to 21, closing the remaining loopholes, promoting alcohol education and continuing the strict enforcement of the current law.

"We have to keep this issue to forefront," Andrea concluded.

40% of our customers actually believe we work hard to keep gas costs as low as possible.

They're 100% right.

One of the pleasant surprises we found, in our recent survey of our customers' attitudes, was that a sizeable percentage of our customers believe that we do work hard to keep gas costs as low as possible.

And they're absolutely right.

In fact, they probably don't realize how right they are.

Because the fact is, according to a commonly used measure of efficiency, Northern Illinois Gas is one of the most efficiently run natural gas utilities in the entire U.S.

In effect, each of our employes takes care of 580 customers. And that 580-to-1 ratio of customers served per employe is the highest of any major gas utility in the country.

How do we achieve that record?

By streamlining our operations wherever possible.

From billing to controlling the flow of gas from our suppliers, we make extensive use of computers.

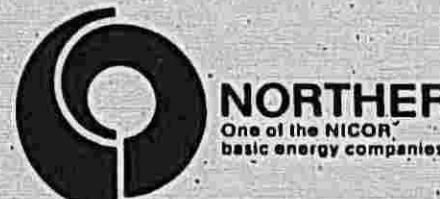

Our estimated billing system allows us to read our customers' meters only every other month, thereby saving extra meter reader wages required when meters are read monthly.

We're also at the forefront of innovations to reduce other operating costs. For example, our fleet of company cars and service vehicles is being modified so that it can run on compressed natural gas, which is considerably less expensive than gasoline.

All in all, we can fairly say we don't just work hard to keep costs down, we work as hard as any utility we know of.

And that continuous effort helps minimize the price our customers pay for natural gas, which will be the subject of the next ad in this series.

SCHEDULING YOUR DENTAL APPOINTMENT

Question: How often should one see his/her dentist?

Answer. It has been more-or-less standard to schedule patients for check-ups every six months, even if there are no problems, simply, as a form of health insurance — and reassurance. Although you may practice good oral hygiene, it's unlikely that you are able to remove hidden tartar, surface stains, and stubborn plaque. A dentist has the skills and the tools to do this, and is also able to probe to make certain that periodontal disease is not developing.

Since conditions of teeth and mouth, predisposition to decay, and other problems vary considerably from patient to patient, a check-up four times a year may be advisable for some while once-a-year can be sufficient for others. Your dentist is able to determine your needs.
